MOROCCO

'Morocco is like a tree whose roots lie in Africa but whose leaves breathe in European air.' This is the metaphor that King Hassan II (1929-99) used to describe a country that is both profoundly traditional and strongly drawn to the modern world. It is this double-sided, seemingly contradictory disposition that gives Morocco its cultural richness.' (Quoted from the Eyewitness Guide: Morocco) This tour explores the full range of historical, geographical and cultural aspects that make Morocco a fascinating destination.

Visits include: Casablanca, Hassan II Mosque, Rabat/Sale, Hassan Tower, Chellah Gardens, Oudaya Kasbah, Meknes, Fes, Atlas Mountains, Bin El Ouidane, Ait Benhaddou, Ait Khozema project, Berber village of Amassine, Toubkal National Park, Marrakech, Essaouira, Jemaa el Fna, souks, palaces and riads.

The Ait Khozema Project

In 1997 at the 15th Anniversary DOBAG* Conference in Istanbul we met Austrian Professor Wilfried Stanzer (a former president of ICOC – International Conference on Oriental Carpets) and in talking to him became fascinated by a project he was embarking upon to revive the carpet weaving traditions of the Berber people of the High Atlas Mountains in Morocco.

As with the nomadic tribes of many countries the Berbers had lost their traditional methods due to the gradual decimation of their culture. Professor Stanzer employed the expertise of Dr Harald Boehmer, founder of the DOBAG* project, to help with the rediscovery of the natural dyes of the area in the Atlas Mountains where the Berber tribes still lived. Subsequently, the unique Ait Khozema project has developed whereby Berber women weavers are now benefiting from their own work, producing a few hundred traditional-design, natural-dyed carpets per year. Very few people visit the project (which is not a tourist destination) and through our contact with Professor Stanzer we are the only Australian groups to do so.

We hope you can join us for a memorable Moroccan experience.

*DOBAG is an acronym, in English meaning 'Natural Dye Research and Development Project'. It operates in selected villages in Western Turkey and we are the Australian representatives for the internationally acclaimed project.

Day 1: Friday 29 March

Arrive Casablanca. Dinner at Rick's Café (optional)

Those travelling with Emirates arrive in Casablanca in the afternoon where you will be met and transferred to our hotel overlooking the Atlantic. Tonight we offer an optional dinner at Rick's Café, a restaurant in the style of the original made famous in the movie Casablanca.

o/n Casablanca

Day 2: Saturday 30 March

Hassan 11 Mosque, La Sqala Restaurant, Rabat/Sale

After a leisurely morning in the hotel we will visit the amazing Hassan 11 Mosque. This massive structure and its vast Medersa complex is one of the largest religious buildings in the world.

The site covers nine hectares and the main prayer hall can accommodate twenty five thousand worshippers. After our visit we will have lunch in one of Casablanca's most popular restaurants on the harbour. Later we drive north to the capital Rabat and check into our riad in the old medina for two nights. There will be free time to explore some of the old medina of Rabat

Day 3: Sunday 31 March

Rabat, Chellah Gardens, Hassan Tower, Oudaya Kasbah

In the morning we will visit the Chellah Gardens (14th century Merinid necropolis), Hassan Tower and Oudaya Kasbah which is within the walls of the 13th century Andalusian style quarter. Later we will have lunch in a restaurant overlooking the Atlantic. In the late afternoon we will take a leisurely walk through the old souk of Sale and then return to our riad for dinner overlooking the river Bou Regreg and the capital Rabat.

Day 4: Monday 1 April

Meknes, Dar el-Ma, Volubilis, Fes

We drive to Meknes where we visit the 17th century Dar el-Ma (Water House), subterranean granaries and the medina of the old city, where we will see the ornately decorated gate of Bab Mansour built in 1732. Later we drive to the famous Roman ruins and World Heritage site of Volubilis. Lunch will be in a spectacular location overlooking the ruins. In the afternoon we drive to the ancient and exotic city of Fes where we will arrive at our beautiful riad in the heart of the old medina.

BLD

o/n Fes

Day 5: Tuesday 2 April

Fes, old city, Mausoleum of Moulay Idriss II, Nejjarine fountain, old tannery, ceramic workshop

Walking through the amazing souk in the old city medina you can believe you are still in the 15th century, visiting medersas, Nejjarine fountain and the fascinating tanneries. Lunch will be at a restaurant in the old medina. In the afternoon we will visit one of the leading ceramic workshops where we will be able to observe the ancient craft of Zellij tile work and the making of beautiful pottery.

o/n Fes

Day 6: Wednesday 3 April

Middle Atlas Mountains, cedar forests, Beni Mellal, Bin El Ouidane

Today we start our journey into the Atlas Mountains first driving through a flowering landscape that leads us to the town of Ifrane. Developed by the French, the ski resort town has the feeling of an alpine village. Later in the morning we drive through the magnificent cedar forests of the Middle Atlas. In the afternoon we drive further south to Beni Mellal where we climb the steep first stage of the High Atlas. In the late afternoon we arrive at Bin El Ouidane, the largest man-made reservoir in Morocco, where we spend the night in our hotel overlooking the lake and with time for a swim in the pool.

Day 7: Thursday 4 April

La Maroc Blanc, High Atlas, Demnate

After breakfast we drive up through the mountains to the home of Berber rug designer Mustapha Hansali, where Wilfried Stanzer has his second carpet project which weaves beautiful long piled wool rugs using the inspiration of old Berber designs. In 2009 and 2011 carpets from this project were awarded "best tribal carpets" at the prestigious Domotex Carpet Fair in Hanover, Germany. After lunch we drive further on through the High Atlas mountains to the small town of Demnate where we will stay in a traditional Kasbah hotel in a spectacular location overlooking the surrounding mountains.

o/n Demnate

Day 8: Friday 5 April

Imi-n-Ifri, Ait Benhaddou, Tamdaght

We now drive just a few kilometres to the village of Imi-n-Ifri ("Grotto's Mouth" in Berber) where we will be able to view the natural travertine bridge that formed over a gorge 1.8 million years ago. The cave like structure under the bridge is home to hundreds of birds including the black Mountain Raven. Later we will drive off road through wonderful mountain scenery and in the afternoon arrive at the most famous Kasbah complex in Morocco, Ait Benhaddou which has been used as the backdrop in many well known movies including Lawrence of Arabia.

Day 9: Saturday 6 April

Amassine village and the Ait Khozema project

Today we drive into the mountains once more and in the shadow of the volcanic peak Jebel Siroua (3305m) we arrive at the village of Amassine where we will spend two nights in the Ait Khozema project house. After lunch Wilfried Stanzer and his assistants will give us a first hand look at the process of rug making including combing and spinning the lustrous mountain wool, weaving, and the art of natural dyeing. We will also have the opportunity to walk through the village visiting weavers in their homes and finally reaching the important village storehouse known as an Agadir. The project house has a small Turkish hammam (bath) and a wonderful view out over the valley. The night sky is ablaze with millions of stars.

BLD

o/n Amassine

Day 10: Sunday 7 April

Amassine (summer village), World Creation Valley, Ait Khozema carpets

With the landcruisers we climb higher to the summer village of Amassine (all villagers spend the summer here). Here we have a spectacular view to the highest mountains of the High Atlas (4165 metres in the Toubkal National Park) and are standing in the volcanic centre of the area. We enter the "world creation valley", a volcanic stone creation, where scattered everywhere are stones resembling animals and trolls. Here we will have a picnic lunch and later in the afternoon return to the Amassine village house.

BLD o/n Amassine

Day 11: Monday 8 April

Tizi n' Tichka Pass, Marrakech

This morning after breakfast we leave the village of Amassine and take the road to Marrakech. After lunch we cross the High Atlas mountains at 2260 metres via Tizi n' Tichka, the highest pass in Morocco. We descend into the valleys where picturesque Berber villages are painted pink with oleander. In the afternoon we arrive at Marrakech and our beautiful riad in the old medina.

BLD o/n Marrakech

Day 12: Tuesday 9 April

The souk of Marrakech, Jemaa el Fna, Madersa Ben Youssef

Firstly we walk through the souk (market place or bazaar) of the city. The word 'souk' is derived from the country people's words for 'magic box'. At the end of the souk is the old koranic school "Ben Youssef" built in the fascinating Andalusian style. We walk slowly back through the souk, visiting all the handicraft areas: leather, bronze, wood, textiles and silversmith. Lunch will be on a shady terrace above the Jemaa el Fna. After lunch we are free to relax in the hotel or take another visit to the souk. Towards sunset we walk in the Jemaa el Fna now occupied by musicians, artists and snake charmers. After watching the sunset over the square we visit an old palace (Dar el-Hamra) to have dinner with rhythmic Gnaoui music playing in the background.

BLD o/n Marrakech

Day 13: Wednesday 10 April

Majorrel Garden, Mellah (Jewish quarter), free time

This morning we take a horse and carriage ride to the very colourful garden of the famous Art Deco painter Jaques Majorelle. Later we arrive in the Mellah where we will see the old Jewish quarter with its unique style of architecture and many shops selling spices. Here we will also have lunch overlooking the palace walls where storks make their nests. In the afternoon there will be free time to further explore the souk or relax in the riad. This evening we will have dinner on the terrace of the riad.

BLD o/n Marrakech

High Atlas Mountains

Day 14: Thursday 11 April

Marrakech, Argan Oil Co-op, Essaouira

We leave the city of Marrakech driving west towards the Atlantic coast where we arrive at the colourful and historic seaside port of Essaouira. The Berber name means 'the wall', a reference to the fortress walls that originally enclosed the city. The old medina is a UNESCO World Heritage site and the narrow stone streets are home to many artisans displaying and selling their numerous handicrafts. As this is within the area where the highly prized Argan tree grows there are also many women's co-ops producing the oil and related products from these native Moroccan trees. We will visit one of the co-ops before arriving at our wonderful riad in the medina.

BLD o/n Essaouira

Day 15: Friday 12 April

Essaouira

Today we will have the opportunity to further explore the fascinating port city of Essaouira at our leisure. As there are no cars in the old medina it is easy to walk through the souk and down to the famous fishing harbour on the Atlantic Ocean.

BLD o/n Essaouira

Essaouira, Marrakech, Casablanca

After breakfast we leave Essaouira and drive back in the direction of Marrakech. We will stop on the way for lunch and in the afternoon return to Casablanca on the motorway which takes us through the agricultural landscapes on the western side of the Atlas Mountains. This evening we will have our farewell dinner in one of the restaurants close to our hotel.

BLD o/n Casablanca

Day 17: Sunday 14 April

This morning our tour ends and those taking the afternoon Emirates flight will be transferred to the Mohammed V International Airport for the journey home.
